Positions at end of week

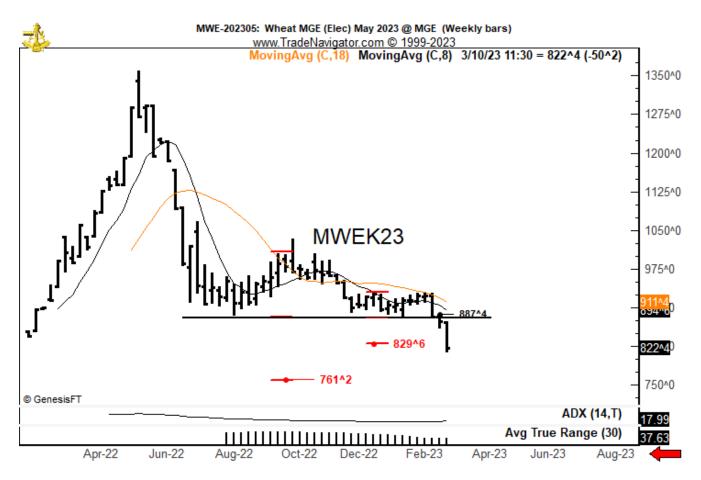

- Short 50% Mpls Wheat futures
- Short 100% Soybean Oil futures
- Short 50% Dow futures

I exited positions in Eurodollars and Euribor on Thursday.

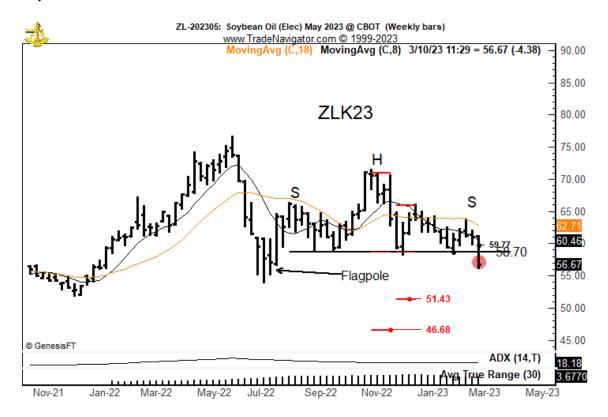

There is a strong possibility I will be traveling in Mexico for the next week. If I go silent you will know why.

Current positions

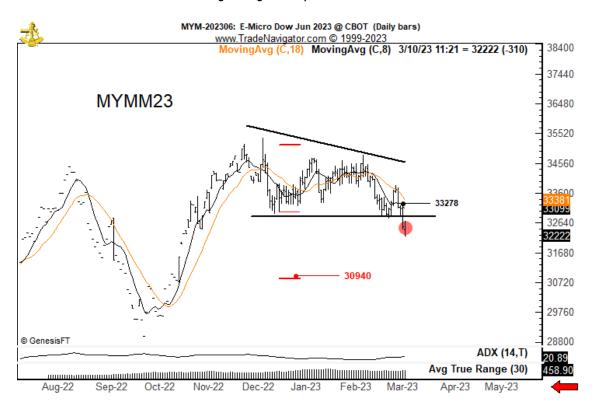

Mpls Wheat. Short 50%. The intial target has been met. I took partial profits toward the end of the trading session.

Soybean Oil. Short 100%.

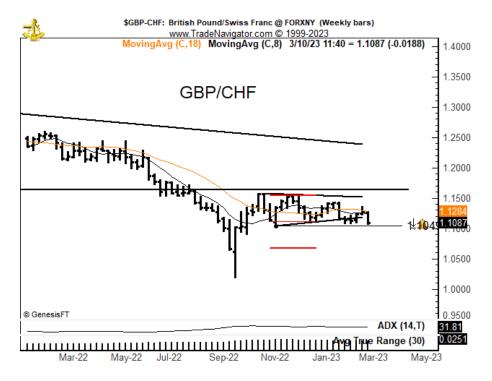

Dow Jones. Short 50%. Descending triangle completed.

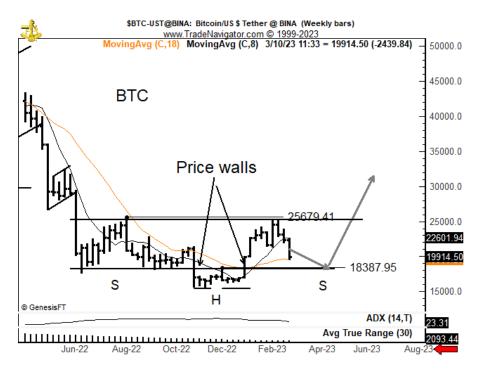

Markets of interest

GBP/CHF. My thinking is that this chart should have already broken down by now. I have removed my orders but still have a price alert in place and will take the trade if it is during active European trading hours.

Bitcoin. A possible H&S bottom could form. Be alert. I would prefer a hard test of 18500 to 19000 then a drift sideways for a few days.

Eurocurrency. Like Bitcoin, I am not predicting a H&S pattern in the Eurocurrency but will be prepared if one unfolds. The current right shoulder is not ideal, but acceptable.

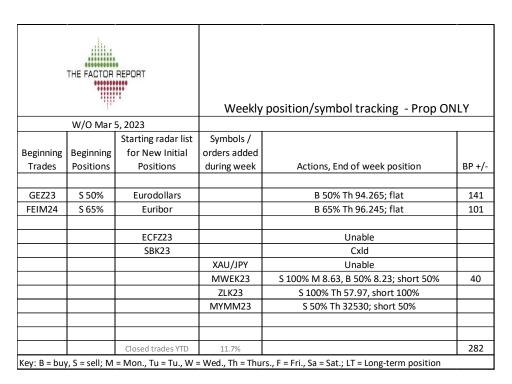

British Pound. Possible rectangle or double-type top. I do not want to be short GBP against both USD and CHF.

European Carbon Allowances. A massive ascending triangle continues to unfold. This is a very large contract and not suitable for smaller accounts, but several ETFs exist depending upon the stock exchange market of your choice.
