My current trading theme is as follows:

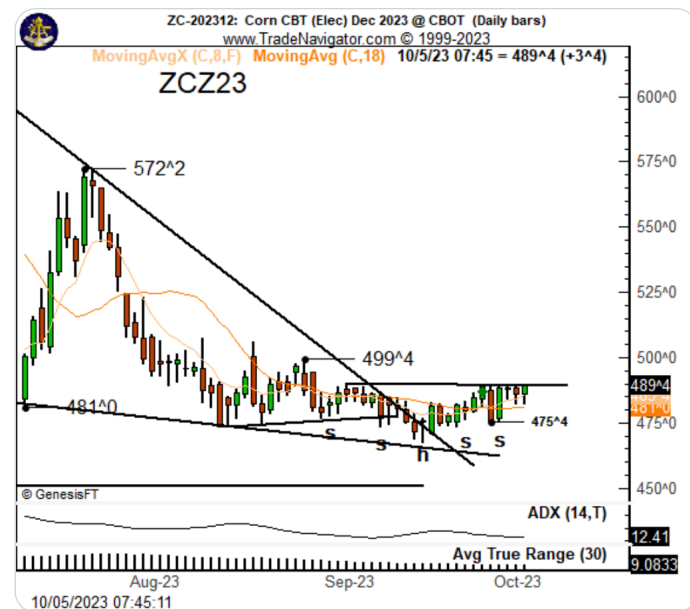

1. I want to go flat pending my seasonal move back to Arizona
2. I want to allow the markets to "take me out," rather than covering at the market

Accordingly, yesterday's foot shot was both low day and set up day in Russell, thus 3DTSR

Chart of interest. I am long only one tranche of Corn but will add based on BO. Only problem is that with wedge it is common for price to scallop higher, creating a larger rounding bottom. \$ZC\_F

Chart of tradeable interest - Nat Gas $NG_F

I was too shy because of big contango, but weekly chart has completed massive base while Dec contract completed tiny RABT as the trigger I'm flat but want to buy a set back
